The 2013 CCC was another year of change.

In a way similar to 2012, the averages this year were very good, reinforcing that both the Junior and Senior competitions are approachable for the majority of students. Again, there is a large clump of Junior competitors who acheived 60/75, which is a very good score.

We launched a live version of the on-line CCC grader (expanding from the pilot version in 2012) that about half of the competitors registered for this year. With a few glitches now sorted out (including Java memory errors and timing issues), I think the on-line grader will become the de-facto standard for contest writers, due to the feedback it provides. We will still allow teachers and students to choose to grade off-line, but the selection of languages (C, C++, Pascal, Java, Python, Perl and PHP) will hopefully cover the vast majority of competitors.

Again, if students want to learn Python, check out the CS Cirlces On-line Resource at:

cscircles.cemc.uwaterloo.ca

We continued the collaboration with Tsinghua University in Beijing and the University of Hong Kong to offer the contest to Beijing and Hong Kong high school students. More information (including results) can be found at: http://ccc.cs.tsinghua.edu.cn/ and http://www.cs.hku.hk/ccc2013/. As in previous years, the organizers from Tsinghua and HKU collaborated with UW to create a contest different than the Canadian CCC.

Below, a qualitative summary of both the Junior and Senior contest is presented.

I hope you found the contest this year interesting and educational, fun and intriguing. Thanks for being a part of it.
